
Alfred Brown

A room at Dover Street was to be booked for Mondays, 7.45 - 9.45pm at a cost of 3/6d per week. The next year, 1900, the meeting night was changed to Wednesday, and the . Her husband was English and was a lecturer at the Polytechnic. . When 20-30 young people did meet, they said that they wanted separate .
